Speed Dating World Record To Be Attempted

Cupid.com/PreDating will attempt to establish the Guinness World Record for the largest simultaneous speed dating event ever held in one evening. About 125 Cupid.com/PreDating parties are scheduled to be held in more than 100 cities in the US and Canada on Wednesday evening, February 8th – just in time for Valentine's Day. In all, it is anticipated that more than 4,800 eligible singles will participate in the potentially record-breaking event, which works out to about 43,200 6-minute speed dates in one evening.

Eric P. Straus, president & CEO of Cupid.com said, "We know that singles want to find someone special with whom to share Valentine's Day. What better time to attempt a new record for this new social phenomenon? This event will enable thousands of singles to meet their Valentine... and be a part of history."
